Dr. Giampaolo Barone

Associate professor of Inorganic Chemistry, Università di
Palermo

„Transition metal complex-DNA binding: in silico approaches”

Giampaolo Barone obtained the Degree in Chemistry in 1994 and the Ph.D. in Chemistry in 1998, at the University of Palermo, with a thesis on the interaction of DNA with methyltin(IV) compounds.

In the period 1999-2001 has been postdoctoral fellow of the Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences of the University of Salerno and, in the period 2001-2004, of the Department Chemistry "S. Cannizzaro" of the University of Palermo, where presently covers the role of assistant professor of General and Inorganic Chemistry. He is member of the Board of Teachers of the doctorate course of "Chemical Sciences" of the University of Palermo.

From 2005 he is involved in the organization of the European Summerschool in Quantum Chemistry (ESQC).
