

Robert Bosch
Stiftung

universität wien

Fakultät für Chemie

AcademiaNet

1st AcademiaNet-Club in Vienna

Friday, 5 October 2018, 17:00 h

An initiative of the Robert Bosch Stiftung

Organised in cooperation with the Faculty of Chemistry, University of Vienna and WoChem – Women in Chemistry, University of Vienna

AcademiaNet (www.academia-net.org) is an internet portal hosted by the Robert Bosch Stiftung featuring profiles of excellent female researchers from all disciplines. The project is run in cooperation with Spektrum der Wissenschaft and the Nature Publishing Group. AcademiaNet-Clubs (AN-Clubs) provide an opportunity to meet up and network.

The 1st AN-Club in Vienna invites interested female scientists from all disciplines to participate in our public session. Join us!

Friday, 5 October, 17:00 h

17:00 Welcome & Introduction

Leticia González, Professor for Theoretical Chemistry, University of Vienna, AcademiaNet Member and Coordinator of AN-Club Vienna

17:10 The tragic destiny of Mileva Maric Einstein

Pauline Gagnon, Physicist, author and blogger

The Canadian Physicist worked over 19 years at CERN. In her talk, Gagnon will review evidence regarding the question: what were Albert Einstein's first wife's contributions to his extraordinary productivity?

[Image: Albert and Mileva Einstein, 1912, ETH-Bibliothek Zürich, Bildarchiv / Public Domain Mark]

18:10 AcademiaNet Slam Session

19:15 Social drinks

Closing at 20:00

Venue: University of Vienna, Faculty of Chemistry, Joseph-Loschmidt Lecture Hall, Währinger Strasse 42, 1090 Vienna – no registration needed.

AN-Club Vienna Coordinator: Prof. Leticia González, email: leticia.gonzalez@univie.ac.at